Want to know how to get Starbucks to install a store in our building. Losing my cafeteria operator and need a replacement for the federal building. I am in south seattle at 4735 east marginal way south. I am land locked on a secure site with little to no foot traffic. I have many visitors to the building for services, approximately 900 people on site; two buildings (one is losing cafe operator, the second has a coffee bar for limited service).

I have been on hold to customer service most of the morning. I came down to your office to be told to send an email. Please advise how I would get your interest.

Cynthia,

This would be great! As for presentation and focus, perhaps in review of the RFP, it could be tailored for students to understand site selection/placement, how building materials and programs (MEP) have impacts in a positive way with the design.

If there are some good take aways that the students can work to include in their program response, it would be valuable to them.

Thanks for reaching out to Kristyn on this.

Look forward to meeting tomorrow.

Hi (b) (6)

I actually have a Sustainability Program Manager, Kristyn Clayton, who would be willing to do a quick presentation on LEED criteria and sustainable building features. She is available to be at the meeting between 5-6pm and can go over LEED principles, sustainable materials, site selection. We can limit her presentation/Q&A time based on what other items need to be covered, I just need to give her an idea.

Let me know if you'd like me to confirm with her.

The project will is requested to be on a Puget sound university site. I think we can have a little liberties on the location (or I think we should take some liberty) as to where and how we would want our project to apply to the program.

For this coming meeting, I wanted to review each discipline and their core focus of work. We can tie in how we would approach solving or responding to the RFP. We can bring in samples of our work so the students can better understand what a set of plans looks like. I will also be showing a couple of past presentations to give the students an idea of what to expect as for level of project completion.

If you will be out this coming meeting, please see if you can forward me some bullet points as to how you would address the RFP from your field of focus. Also, any thought or input on the RFP would be helpful.

Thanks and I look forward to our meeting.

Cynthia,

I feel bad about the selected dates. I didn't know there was a conflict with your schedule. We have 11 mentors this year and 20 students currently registered as of last Thursday. I have been working on our outline for this coming year and was attacking it differently than that in past. Based on this year's RFP (I have only heard about the content). I would like to keep you on the email string and meeting dates, events etc. I understand time and personal commitments. Any time you can give is appreciated and welcomed.

Robb,

We have 4 Engineering mentors (takes a load off of us from last year). We have 2 Mechanical, Structural, Electrical mentors. So with that, we can focus more on the architecture side of things. It will be great to have that support. As for your help (even if it is sporadic), I will take it. I enjoyed your push and assistance last year. It would be good to have you join and participate when you can.

I am working out another solution for the schedule after meetings held at GSA. I truly appreciate the support and use of the space. It is a great space with the room that is perfect for the program.

Thank you both for what you have done and what you can continue to give.

Previously I had emailed you that I wasn't able to commit fully this year due to (b) (6). However, I would still like to assist as best as I can, if I still can. When Cynthia mentioned this situation to me, I wanted to help you, Cynthia, and the ACE Program.

I don't know if it's too late for me to volunteer even if it may be a bit sporadic. Nevertheless, I want to help to and do what I can to make this year more successful than last.

Checking with Robb through this email on his availability for the December 14 meeting.

Is it possible to switch the Nov 1, 15 and 29 to the 2, 16 and 30th? As for the December meeting, Could possibly Robb step in to host for that one day? I know he has some issues with being able to mentor this year and we will miss his drive. If he is not able to, then we can hold this meeting at POE's office.

Thanks and I will be sending out an updated schedule that has points of focus from us Mentors to work on with the students.

Thanks again, (b) (6)

As previously emailed, I have the room scheduled for Nov 1, 15 and 29. I will not be able to host meetings in December as I will be out of the country.

Hello, (b) (6)

Yes, of course I remember you from Home Depot days, hope that you are well!

GSA does not handle RE for the USPS; however, as I personally have done some projects in USPS-owned facilities, I have a contact or two that I can ask.

I will look into this further and loop back with you.

Take care.

I would then have us meet at POE for the second third of meetings. I am working to get Auburn Mechanical on board and we could utilize their space for the remaining meetings.

Please let me know if that works for scheduling.

Second note, I am working to prepare a stronger outline for our students this year with regards to a more formal educational curriculum. This along with our project should really bolster information for the students learning.

Last thing, please note my new contact information below. I have moved on from MG2 and I am now with Starbucks Corporation. My email, phone etc. is updated with my new role/position.

I am looking! Wanted to check with you on a couple things that will help me target venue.

We do private rentals of the Tacoma Union Station central dome area - there are no tables or chairs, those would have to be rented and set up, and there may be a rental fee for the space due to clean up and security. I was thinking this might bump it off the list, but let me know if you all are open to those considerations as it is a beautiful space.

If there are around 100 I can offer up the GSA cafeteria. No fee, we have tables and chairs in the open area and spots for firms to set up displays in an adjacent conference room. I'm thinking this would be a good spot since I am also offering our upstairs conference room for our regular meetings for the year so students, parents, mentors will know exactly where the program will be taking place.

I couldn't get tech information until I was ready to place the order and schedule the installation. I'm going to order the larger brewers today, will need to get a count from you on how many shuttles you wish to purchase for use. My recommendation for each site is 5. (1 each for Light/Dark/Decaf and 2 for the Medium Roast).

Greg,
How are deliveries best handled? We ship FedEx freight or Estes III. Do either of these companies have drivers already cleared for delivery access? Starbucks doesn't have drivers that deliver for just us.

Thanks!

There are two options below. It's not the equipment (b) (6) believes is needed, but based on head count, distance to the secondary cafeteria, and two coffee brands, I don't think the volume will qualify for two of the larger shuttle size brewers as requested.

Options are 1 large brewer and shuttles for Coast Guard and airport brewer for cafeteria, or 2 of the larger shuttle size brewers (1.5 gallon brews) but require purchase of the shuttles.

Hi All,

As follow up to previous emails, based on quantity of service points (2 separate cafeterias) and the offering of both Starbucks and Pura Vida in both locations, combined with the distance of the Main Cafeteria from the office building, we've estimated total volume to be 40 pounds per week of coffee (approximately 16 pots per day).

Using this volume, we have the following loaned equipment package available for Homeland Security St Elizabeth's:

Coast Guard Dining:

- Bunn Dual ThermoFresh Brewer (this brews 1.5 gallon shuttles - same as previously at GSACO)
- Works with existing electrical (120/240v/30 amp/1 phase) and L14-30R receptacle
- 4 Bunn 1.5 Gallon Shuttles

Central Campus Dining Hall

- Bunn Twin Axiom Airpot Brewer (this brews 3 Liter airpots)
- Works with existing electrical (120/240v/30 amp/1 phase) and L14-30R receptacle.

(b) (6) indicated the desire for a Bunn Dual TF at the Main Dining Hall as well. I'm glad to adjust to that brewer, but if we move this direction there will not be enough equipment allowance left to provide any shuttles. Eurest would then need to purchase the desired quantity of shuttles for both locations at $238 each.

Please call if you wish to discuss details further, or let me know if you'd like to go with our available loaned equipment package or if you'd like to opt for the larger brewers desired by the on-site team and then purchase the shuttles.

Thanks!

Tom

(b) (6),

I'm working through equipment allocations now and will have some information for you this afternoon on St. Elizabeth's. Based on the equipment that (b) (6) requested last week, I already know that there will be some equipment (either upgraded brewers and/or shuttles) that will be purchased items.

Please confirm that the population will be 4,000. Any additional information that you could provide that will be helpful in estimating coffee usage - hours of operation, days per week open, etc..., will help me to specify the best equipment to meet your needs.

You should have quotes from me by early tomorrow. We will want to discuss and confirm quickly to get the equipment installed prior to the 25th.

Thanks!

I would love to tour this building! I've heard about it.

My agency is currently reviewing its green building rating system. We have been using LEED since 2006. They are considering switching to the Living Building Challenge.

I can understand how they could make a building energy independent, but water independent is pretty amazing.

Hi all,

This morning (b) (6) reached out and shared that Starbucks has forbidden her to participate in the conference due to competitive concerns. Although we are dismayed by this news we would like to push on and continue crafting a worthwhile presentation for GoGreen.

On Ed's recommendation we reached out to (b) (6) of NRDC to fill the speaker position. (b) (6) (included here!) has graciously offered to help us in our time of need. GoGreen's Sierra has been made aware of the change.

For reference (b) (6) is the Sustainability Manager for NRDC. She manages renovations of NRDC offices, which pursue LEED and Living Building Challenge. (b) (6) implements initiatives to minimize NRDC's operational impact on the environment in the areas of carbon emissions, water, waste, and pollution. Under her leadership, NRDC aims to become net zero and exhibit aggressive, innovative and scalable solutions to minimizing harm to people and the planet.

Thank you for understanding and I look forward to seeing the final results of this presentation!

Hi Sierra,

Yes! We reached out to our corporate members of mindful MATERIALS and found two potential speakers who could add a stronger business perspective to our proposal. It would be GoGreen's decision on whom you would like to add to the panel. Our potential speakers are (b) (6) of Starbucks and (b) (6) of the National Resources Defense Council.

(b) (6) focuses on Concepts as Starbucks's Design Librarian in Seattle, Washington. (b) (6) specializes in interior design, space planning, and design research. Her interior design strategies are heavily influenced by the ten years she spent working as a photographer and designer. Before that she served as an independent advisor for promotions and events for an additional nine years. (b) (6) holds a B.A. in Interior Design from the Cornish College of Arts and studied Industrial and Product Design at the Metropolitan State University of Denver. According to (b) (6) "Starbucks Coffee Company has always maintained the position of ethics and environmental responsibility to the best of our ability in designing and sourcing of our stores.

In the past, it has been the role of designers and specifiers to procure information about the makeup of products through any means necessary and can be quite time consuming. Although we are just beginning to utilize mindful Materials, we are already finding it to be a wonderful way to help shortlist possible items and suppliers. We will still strive to find new and local makers and manufacturers that we can help elevate with the power of our brand but now while encouraging them to disclose fully to the world the information that we require them to disclose to us."

(b) (6) is a sustainability manager for the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC) in New York City. As NRDC's Sustainability Manager she minimizes the carbon footprint of NRDC's real estate portfolio and staff activities both through fit outs and day-to-day operations. From the extensive data that she collects on NRDC's consumption and waste generation she analyzes the organization's current impact and crafts strategies to reduce it. During the first tenant fit out that she managed for NRDC she suggested that the project pursue sustainability goals that went beyond LEED. A year later the 10,000 square foot office in Chicago was awarded Living Building Challenge Petal Certification – the first tenant improvement in the world to receive LBC recognition – opening a new market of beyond sustainable spaces. With a B.S. in Structural Engineering from Cornell University and a Masters in Sustainability Management from Columbia she applies her technical education with a broad-brush approach to achieve NRDC's mission of safeguarding the planet. Eileen would be able to draw on these experiences to discuss how NRDC creates and uses green offices, and how panel attendees can too.

Each owner representative has a different perspective relative to the design and implementation of high performance, green strategies as influenced by their respective industries. Each woman can also speak to how improvements to overall environmental quality can ripple through practice, support occupants, reinforce organizational goals, and ultimately impact the bottom line.

Regarding actionable takeaways, after attending our presentation attendees will:

- Learn methods and opportunities to increase activity within typical office cultures that they can implement themselves
- Understand the environmental and human health benefits of green purchasing options and how to make greater informed decisions when selecting their materials
- Understand the value of a providing impactful circadian lighting solutions and understand the best practices for application

Thank you for your consideration and we look forward to hearing from you soon!

Best,

(b) (6)

Hi Sierra,

I wanted to reach out to say that I have not forgotten about your request. We have reached out to corporate members of the mindful MATERIALS Collaborative and are hopeful that we will find a case study or at minimum a business that can speak towards the benefits and applicability of the program. Once we receive confirmation from a corporate member I will let you know.

Hello (b) (6)

Thank you for your submission to GoGreen 2017.

We have received numerous exceptional proposals and your proposal is still under consideration. We are interested in your topic and would like to further explore the possibility of including this session in our program. With that being said, GoGreen audience is predominantly comprised of business sector attendees as well as a fair amount of government and public sector attendees. Therefore, it is important for us to understand how your session would relate to this audience and ensure that there will be actionable takeaways from the session.

Can you provide any case studies in which Washington businesses have implemented the use of mindful M A T E R I A L s in their workplace? Can you elaborate on what actionable takeaways the audience will leave with? And finally, can you suggest additional speakers who might give a business perspective and/or a public sector perspective on this topic to include in this session?

Thank you for your patience while we determine which proposals are the best fit for the 2017 program. We greatly appreciate your interest in speaking at GoGreen Seattle 2017!

Best Regards,
